The room was then cleared and Coulman's Orchestra kept a large crowd dancing until the early hours. This brought to a close one of the best days of sport ever put on in Irma.

Ourselves.

Bruce Barton, the well known author and magazine writer, has proposed the toast: "To the only folks who can make us or break us—to Ourselves." And he quotes the saying of Carlyle: "The world's being saved will not save us; nor the world's being lost destroy us. We should look to ourselves."

The truth of these statements, differently worded but meaning exactly the same thing, cannot be gainsaid. The biggest factor in the world now as always, is the individual. No man is actually down and out, defeated, unless and until he himself admits defeat. Furthermore, more people are destroyed by prosperity than by adversity; more people fall to grasp and enjoy the realities of life when the gods are showering them with riches or other gifts than when they are faced with difficulties and confronted with seemingly unsolvable problems.

It is then people begin to call upon latent powers they possess. William James, in his essay on "Vital Reserves," pointed out that underneath our daily store of strength and courage, all of us have reservoirs that are tapped only by emergency. We are all able, under the test, to surprise ourselves with an unsuspected capacity to be and do more.

It is that capacity which is our greatest asset. It is our hope in the present and for the future. It is ours to employ now.

The writer is acquainted with a man resident in one of our prairie cities who lost his position over a year ago. He has a bed-ridden wife of not only to support but to care for. He is not an educated man, and prior to losing his position received only a small salary. Did he despair and call upon the Government to put him "on relief"? Not a bit of it! He called upon his own reserves of strength. Although he had no experience, he got a job painting a garage. This led to other small painting jobs. Then at Christmas time he got work soliciting orders on a commission basis. When spring came he hunted up garden work to do. Thus he keeps going. He is seldom idle because he is willing to take on any kind of a job, no matter how humble. And when you meet him he always has a new job to tell. He goes whistling on his way, scornful to accept Government or municipal relief, always looking forward to better days that must inevitably come, and in the meantime keeping his head well above water. He is a bigger, better man than ever before; has maintained his self-respect and kept his courage, and, in the days to come, will command a better position than any he might have secured had "hard times" not descended upon him.

This is a very simple illustration of a very ordinary individual. Nevertheless he has and is displaying the spirit of a hero. Yet he possesses nothing that each and every person has not got, namely, a reserve of strength, of courage, of determination, to call upon in times of emergency. But the important thing is—he called those reserves into action. Too many of us fail to do this. We hesitate, we drift, we refuse to use the powers lying latent in us with which we have been endowed. In a word, we have no faith in ourselves, and without that faith anything that others may do for us will fall far short. Such people will come out of the present time of difficulty weaker and less well equipped to take advantage of the opportunities which the future will offer to us.

Let us put ourselves to the test. We have been buffeted about; we may be gasping, but if we are strong of heart and keep on we will get our "second wind." A race is never lost until it is over; we always have a chance to win until the tape at the finishing line is definitely broken. Our success or failure depends, not on the other fellow, but on ourselves.

Fast Ocean Travel

Canada Now Only Week-End Journey From England

Canada is now only a "week-end's journey from England," thanks to the record-breaking crossings of the Atlantic by the C.P.'s "Empress of Britain," says Viscount Rothermere, famous British newspaper magnate. Viscount Rothermere declares that the interval between the time the "Empress of Britain," passed Bishop's Rock lighthouse, off the Scilly Islands, and the time she reached the entrance to the Strait of Belle Isle, was only 73 hours and 53 minutes.

"The passage of the North Atlantic was made with only two nights spent out of sight of land," declared Viscount Rothermere's message, "after which the rest of the journey has been through smooth land-locked waters."

An Imposing Monument

Prince of Wales Will Dedicate War Memorial in France

One of the most imposing war memorials on French soil is that which is to be dedicated by the Prince of Wales at Thiepval, on the Somme, next March. This monument, which is nearing completion, will be composed of triumphal arches 140 feet high, and only five feet less in breadth. On the pillars will appear the engraved names of 73,567 British officers, N.C.O.'s and men.

"The average annual income of physicians in the United States, as revealed by an American Medical Association survey, is $9,674.

All Her Children Were Troubled With Diarrhoea

Mr. J. J. Bickert, R.R. 1, Enderby, B.C., writes:—
"Last Summer all my children were troubled with diarrhoea, and were so bad I did not know what to do. A friend told me to give them Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I got a bottle, and after a couple of doses you should have seen the change. The children were soon well again, and I am very thankful to your wonderful remedy. I find it the only one that relieves so easily and quickly."

Established For Centuries

History Of Many English Business Firms Is Interesting

Among the historic business firms of England is one which claims existence when the flames demolished mediaeval London. This is Hedges and Butler, wine merchants, whose original lease forbade the shooting of snipe in that thoroughfare and who numbered Pitt, the Duke of Wellington, W. E. Gladstone, and Lord Beaconsfield among their customers. Yet another is G. W. Scott and Sons Limited, who made hoops for the dresses of the fashionable ladies in the days of Queen Anne and wicker frames for the bearskins of the Guards at Waterloo. Founded in 1690, Birch and Co., have since provided all the banquets for the City Corporation, and for 250 years have fed every crowned head and important man in Europe. The business remains famous for turtle soup and punch made from age-old recipes, and the fine window of their original shop now reposes in the London Museum. Also founded in 1690, Groverman, Chubb and Co., were the first stationers to the Bank of England. Queen Anne, a famous gourmet, liked the relishes made by Crosse and Blackwell, into which firm Napoleon's chief, Quailotti, entered and invented the pickle, Piccalilli. In 1783, it is interesting to note now that the tea duty in England has just been reduced. Mr. Richard Twining, of H. Twining and Co., the tea merchants, was called in by Pitt to discuss the removal of the tea tax, a step which was taken. Two hundred and twenty-two years ago the Sun Insurance Office began business, and in 10 years issued 20,000 policies, insuring about $10,000,000, an enormous sum in those days. Tobaccoes made by early Dollonds of Dollond and Aitchison, were used by Nelson, Wellington and Napoleon. To C. T. Brock and Co., the firework manufacturers, belongs the distinction of carrying on an illegal trade for 155 years, firework making not being actually legalized till 1875.

High Tariff Walls

Action Of U.S. Proves a Severe Blow To Canadian Agriculture

The exports from Canada to the United States of principal commodities, such as are produced on Canadian farms, or manufactured directly from such farm products, during the month of May amounted in value to $590,195, as compared with $2,237,340 in May, 1930, and $8,604,898 in May, 1921, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The high tariff walls erected by the United States, culminating in the Hawley-Smoot tariff in June, 1930, were a severe blow to Canadian agriculture, making the export to that country of many commodities practically impossible.

During the eleven months ending May, 1932, the export of such commodities to the United States totalled $3,632,428, as compared with $4,078,930 in the same period of 1929-30, and $17,142,992 in the eleven months ending May, 1921.

With a duty of 42 cents per bushel on wheat, the export of Canada's chief agricultural product to the United States declined from $101,050, 200 in eleven months of the crop year 1929-30, to $2,490,774 in 1931-32. Three cents per pound on beef cattle has caused a drop from $21,182,824 to $617,745.

Three dollars per head on sheep brought the export down from $1,660,213 to $826. Butter at 14 cents per pound fell from $2,289,221 to $146,946, flaxseed at 65 cents per bushel from $4,763,311 to $573,709, potatoes at 75 cents per 100 pounds from $6,557,031 in eleven months of 1929-30 to $459,449, hay at $5 per ton from $2,369,295 to $115,975, etc. Of course, lowered prices have also had some effect upon the values.

Internally and Externally It Is Good.—The crowning property of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints, as well as externally, for sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pains in the chest, cold and many kindred ailments it has qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

Evidently Not Known

The case came before a London coroner the other day of a man who "with an income of nearly $3,000 a year, had not a friend in the world." It cannot have been generally known that he had an income of nearly $3,000 a year.

And now it is reported crocodiles do not cry. Next thing we know someone will muster enough courage to declare there is no such thing as a weeping willow.

Food loss no nutritional value in canning, scientific experiments indicate.

Using 'Planes In Stamped

Wild Horses To Be Rounded Up From Air

Klamath Falls, Ore., plans the mightiest wild horse drive—from the air. Three airplanes will dip low over the plateaus and passes, set the wild bands running, head them at the turns and finally stampede 2,000 of them it is expected, into a gigantic trap corral in the lowlands. The finest stallions and mares, it is promised, will be allowed to escape again to the hills, but most of that vast catch will be slaughtered—for chicken feed. The automobile could replace the horse in man's heart, but not even the auto could chase him off the map. Only thunder-birds swooping down from the sky can bring extermination to those wise, fleet, liberty-loving mustangs—can stampede them into poultry-bait.—Christian Science Monitor.

Muskeg Has Its Use

Possibility It May Be Manufactured Into Wall Board

Muskeg, the moss-like substance that covers thousands of miles of Canada's treeless north country, has at last found a use. An inquiry recently received by the Board of Trade at the Pas, Manitoba, may lead to a trainload of muskeg being shipped to Brampton, Ontario, for use in the manufacture of wall board.

Sitting in the midst of millions of tons of muskeg, long believed valueless, officials of the board were amazed when they received the letter asking about the possibility of buying a dozen carloads or so. Negotiations are now under way for shipment and the Board of Trade is looking into the possibility of getting a factory to locate there and use the material.

Treachorous Police Dogs

Bringing These Animals Into Canada Looks Like Mistake

The Stratford Beacon-Herald in connection with a case of a dog being bitten in Toronto by a police dog, observes that breeders of dogs are agreed that it was a mistake to bring this dog to Canada. It has not the background and tradition of the Collie, the bulldog, the setter, St. Bernard, Newfoundland or any of the other well-known breeds of dogs to which we are accustomed. The police dog is a wild animal, and treacherous in the sense that he cannot be trusted not to take a bite at any moment. The breeding of these dogs should be discouraged, especially for city life.

The Man Who Walks

Cannot Afford To Relax Vigilance For a Moment

It must be admitted that the pedestrian today has a grievance. He must go about his lawful occupations, if society is to exist, and to do that he must frequent the streets and roads. Yet he is nowadays condemned to do so at the peril of being killed or maimed if he should be guilty of one error of judgment or one lapse of vigilance. He must live in a jeopardy comparable to that of the troops in the front-line trenches during the War.—Morning Post, London, England.

Miracle Recorded In Church

Mosaic Panel Depicts Basket Of Bread and Two Fishes

A fourteenth-century church, built during the reign of the Emperor Constantine the Great, has been uncovered near Tiberius, on the way to Capernaum. This church commemorates the miracle of the loaves and fishes, performed by Jesus on the shores of the Sea of Galilee, and the actual stone said to have figured in the Gospel narrative as the boulder on which He stood has also been found in the centre of the church, where it presumably lay beneath an altar. Behind the stone a wonderfully designed mosaic panel was found depicting in vivid black, red and yellow a basket, several loaves of bread, and two fishes. Although buried beneath dust and rubble for about 1,600 years, and only a stone's-throw from the sea, the mosaic shows no signs of erosion, and the colors are well preserved.

Good Service For Citizens

Toronto Health Department Furnishes Tablets To Purify Water

A notice published in Toronto papers says that free tablets for the purification of water can be obtained from the city health department by any citizen. These tablets are recommended for those going on picnic or on camping trips where there are chances of having to use water of questionable purity. The tablets will purify water and make it fit for drinking in a few minutes.

That is a useful service for any city to give its people. People who go away and who use water of which they know nothing at all are running risks, and a tablet which will eliminate this risk is a friendly thing and a good travelling companion.

Game Fish In North

Transferring Speckled Trout Along Hudson Bay Railway Line

There is a possibility that game fish of the speckled trout variety, will be transported from the streams along Hudson Bay Railway to the Clearwater Lake summer resort and other adjacent waters by airplane or tank car, so the lakes may be stocked for sportsmen.

E. H. Stevenson, inspector of fishing, who is in Churchill, is at present engaged in making a survey of the brooks along the bay line. It is his intention to pick out suitable places for the capture and keeping of fish until transferred to other waters.

New Association Has

Been Granted Charter

Body Organized in Ontario For Protection Of Pedestrians

Did you ever jump for your life as a big hulking brute of an automobile driver bore down on you and when he honked derisively, did you ever mutter: "There ought to be a law?" Well, someone else did. Hence is born the Pedestrians Rights Association of Ontario, granted a charter by the Ontario Government.

Wary of the spectacle of seeing their fellow humans on momentary pedestals and the next cherubim, a group of citizens has founded the association. Head office will be in Ottawa, and the object to protect pedestrians "from all kinds of traffic injuries on streets and roads, especially those arising from motor and other vehicles, and from faults, abuses and infractions of the law by their drivers and owners." It has not been announced just how the pedestrians are to be protected.

A special committee representative of the exhibition association, the city council, the board of trade and the World's Grain Exhibition is at work making plans for the British trade exhibit and have received gratifying response from British manufacturers with whom they are in touch. The exhibit will be housed in the present Confederation Building.

Numerical Supremacy Still Maintained By People Of This Name

GREAT BRITAIN FAVORS BIG CUT IN ARMAMENTS

London, England.—Great Britain officially defined her attitude towards the United States proposal for a one-third cut in world armaments, generally welcoming the American plan, but producing concrete naval armament limitation proposals in lieu of the American naval plans which Great Britain does not think go far enough.

In a white paper read before the House of Commons by Stanley Baldwin, acting prime minister, the government pointed out that Great Britain's world-wide interests made it impracticable to reduce the number of naval units beyond a certain point.

"But, if there is a limit to numerical reduction, it is still possible, and highly desirable, to secure by other means a large diminution in naval armaments," Mr. Baldwin said.

He therefore proposed important reductions in the maximum size of future capital ships, aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers, with corresponding reduction in the maximum gun-calibres for each class.

So far as land armament is concerned, Great Britain has already enforced standards which more than cover the United States limits. The army has been cut from 250,000 in 1913 to 207,000 at present, Mr. Baldwin stated.

And in the air, Great Britain goes step by step with the United States. Great Britain's air force, indeed, is only 20 per cent. of the immediate postwar strength. Great Britain is prepared to support the abolition of the bombing of civilians, and gas and chemical bombing, along with limitations on size and number of aircraft. She would strictly limit the unladen weight of all military and naval aircraft, with the exception of troop carriers and flying boats.

Gas Conservation

National Gas Flares In Turner Valley Have Faded Out

Calgary, Alberta.—"Hell's half acre," the soubriquet of Turner Valley with its scores of giant natural gas flares painting the sky from 50 miles away a lurid crimson at night, is fading out.

Throughout the entire south end of the valley, not a flicker of light is to be seen. By the middle of the week, all the northern flares will also be extinguished and darkness—banned for eight years, will finally descend on the field.

The reason? Operators have finally yielded to the pressure for gas conservation and a government board is shutting in the tremendous high-pressure wells. Some of them like the original Royalty No. 4 which "came in" October 14, 1924, have been continuously flowing over the great Hyle well which was recently drilled in.

Cocos Island Treasure Not Yet Uncovered

Head Of Expedition Says Report Of Success Unfounded

Panama City.—Col. J. E. Leckie, head of the Vancouver, B.C., expedition which is searching for buried treasure on Cocos Isle, off the coast of Costa Rica, wirelessly the United States naval reserve station at Balboa that reports the treasure had been uncovered were unfounded.

In a wireless conversation with the naval reserve station operator the operator of the expedition added: "How did anybody ever get the notion we would ever find anything on this God-forsaken island?"

The Balboa reserve station is the expedition's means of contact with the rest of the world and officials there said no message indicating the treasure had been found were transmitted lately.

J. Walter Young, engineer of the reserve station at Balboa, said Leckie declared before he left Panama for Cocos Island: "If we find gold you'll never know it until after it is safely aboard the Canadian destroyers which are standing by within the area to take the treasure to Canada."

Ottawa, Ont.—"We hope, the destroyers are there, for we need the money," was the comment of defence department officials. "However," added the officials, "we are rather afraid the destroyers are still to be found in the neighborhood of Esquimaut, their home station."

Wheat At Churchill

Over 1,600,000 Bushels Of Wheat In Bins At Northern Port

Churchill, Man.—More than 1,600,000 bushels of the first order of 2,000,000 bushels of wheat to be shipped through this new port this summer, are now in the bins in the harbor, and the second order is rolling in from Saskatchewan points. It is expected 11 ships will be necessary to take away the first two orders of grain. There is much speculation here as to when they will arrive, but none as to how fast they can be loaded. Two or three days they do the job, if there are enough trained cargo trimmers on hand.

Four ocean steamers will be able to line up in a row, when the extension of the grain galleries is completed. They can be loaded in a day.

The elevator was designed for a total capacity of 10,000,000 bushels. The first storage unit of 2,500,000 has been completed, and is being filled for the first time. Grain men state it will soon be necessary to increase the storage capacity since the investment in plant equipment and machinery has been made for a much larger storage plant.

'Plane Crash In North

Bodies Of Three Aviators Will Be Brought To Fort Smith

Edmonton, Alberta.—Bodies of Andy Cruikshank and two air mechanics who died with him in a 'plane crash near Lake Mazenod, in the Northwest Territories, are likely to be brought to civilization for burial, it was learned here.

Pilot Walter Gilbert who found the broken bodies of Cruikshank, one of the north's greatest airmen, and Horace Torrie and Harry King, mechanics, has made a second flight to the lonely spot where the wrecked 'plane lies with the intention of taking the bodies to Fort Smith. Mrs. Cruikshank and Mrs. King are at Fort McMurray, radio station and trading post in northern Alberta, and it is considered possible the remains of their husbands may be taken there.

Trans-Continental Flight

Vancouver Set 'Plane Lands Safely At Coast Airport

Vancouver, B.C.—Landing their plane, "The Vancouver Star," at the Sea Island airport here, pilots R. H. Storer and E. R. Ronald completed their trans-Canada flight which started from Montreal.

Originally planned as a trans-Canada nonstop refueling flight, the flyers were forced to break up their flight when a broken oil line forced their ship down near Sudbury and delayed them three hours shortly after their takeoff from St. Hubert aerodrome, Montreal.

Practically the entire flight was made bucking strong head winds and rains which lashed the ship.

REPORTS OF GUN RUNNING ON IRISH COAST

Dublin, Ireland.—President Eamon de Valera was bombarded with questions in the Dail Eireann over alleged attempts to land arms illegally on the coast of the Irish Free State. The president declared the government had taken all precautions that the representations warranted.

The discussion ended with Patrick McGilligan, former minister for external affairs, declaring he was unsatisfied and would again raise the matter.

In reply to questions, Mr. de Valera declined to say whether the Free State had sought the collaboration of other governments or had received any offer of collaboration of other governments or had received any offer of collaboration from "another government" to deal with the gun-running.

A member asked if the president was aware that a boat had been searched for arms two weeks ago. Mr. de Valera said the step had been taken in accordance with "general precautions." He declined to say whether boats had been searched at the authorities' request.

Unofficial reports some time ago said that vessels of the royal navy were on the look-out for vessels reported to be attempting to land arms, probably for the illegal Irish Republican army.

Dairy Probe

The divorce action was filed last October, but Mrs. McLaren declined to proceed at that time for fear that her residence in Nevada would jeopardize her chances to represent Canada in the coming Olympic games.

She refused to discuss her Olympic games plans, but said, however, that she is in training.

The "Saskatoon Lily" and McLaren were secretly married in York township, Ontario, November 25, 1929.

A New Racket

American License Plates Cause Quebec Officials' Much Worry

Quebec, Que.—The range of human ingenuity in the "racket" business seems to be unlimited.

The latest twist of humanity's pre-occupation to make or save money is revealed in a statement by Quebec highway officials. They say 1931 license plates of several American states have been imported in quantities, and sold to Canadians who have thus saved license renewal fees.

The beautiful part of it all—for the offenders—is in the officials' confessed inability to deal with the offence severely, because of the great number of "real" American citizens at present touring the province.

Stay Was Limited

Churchill, Man.—Tired, wet, cold and bedraggled, the first man to get as far as Churchill in a gate-crashing attempt, arrived here aboard a wheat special. The grain train was carrying one car of lumber. The man crouched between the jutting ends of the timbers. He suffered intense cold. He was sent south on the first train.

CHURCHILL WILL GOVERN FREIGHT RATES ON GRAIN

Churchill, Man.—Churchill will eventually govern freight rates on export grain from the west, according to northern shipping men.

Shipping men believe that the strategic position of the port will have a wide influence over all other North American terminals. They base their forecast on the fact that Churchill is not only more accessible to the overseas ports, but that the saving in time of shipments en route, and consequent saving in interest on money tied up in cargoes, will bring great volumes of business here.

For instance, it is stated that while 10 days were occupied in taking the test shipments of last year across the ocean, the ships can make the voyage easily in 12 days, if necessary.

It is pointed out that the Dalziel steamers are high grade vessels, capable of 12 knots an hour. Wheat shipments of last year were made, and delivered in the European ports in three weeks.

This gives Churchill a decided advantage over Vancouver, where grain is delivered to ships, which must of necessity take as many as six weeks to deliver grain over the longer route. Speeches at a report from Ottawa to the effect that special compasses, costing $5,000, would have to be installed in ships entering this port, harbor men here declare that the modern ships already are equipped with necessary instruments. They also point out that no pilots are necessary to bring ships in here. There is deep water all the way. Ships have radio protection and steam into Churchill in safety to find a deep water pier and safe anchorage.

Who gets the benefit of the saving in freight rates by shipping wheat via Churchill?

This was the question asked by the Prince Albert board of trade. It was said that the rate from Prince Albert to Churchill was 20 cents per hundred pounds, as against 23 cents per 100 pounds from Prince Albert to Fort William.

It is said here that in the case of the sale by the pool to the Continental Grain Company, the pool farmer receives the benefit, since the grain is sold on delivery here. The farmer is said to receive the market price at the country elevator, through the pool, which in turn ships it to Churchill, where it is bought "in storage" by the grain company.

It is pointed out that the grain company has nothing to do with that saving since they bid on wheat "in Churchill." It does not matter to them how it gets here, or what it costs.

The railways do not get the saving. In fact they do not receive as much revenue as they would if Churchill port were not open, and they got the longer haul to the lake head.

On the other hand the Saskatchewan pool, with five terminals at Fort William, where handling charges are collected, profits by no handling charges in this government elevator in Churchill. In order to encourage shipments, the government took off the handling charges on all shipments until after the end of August this year. The charges are approximately one and a quarter cents per bushel. There is a saving on freight rates of one to three cents on the Churchill route, according to the locations of the northern prairie towns shipping export wheat.

FRENCH SUB IS LOST DURING MANOEUVRES

Cherbourg, France.—The French submarine "Promethee" plunged without warning under the waves off Cherbourg harbor while on a trial manoeuvre, sinking down at least 66 men in 150 feet of water seven miles north of Cape Lavi.

Seven members of the crew, including Lieutenant Du Mesnil, the ship's commander, were saved when they were hauled from the deck into the sea by the lurch of the vessel in its unexpected dive. They swam until they were picked up by a fishing boat. Efforts to locate and salvage the submarine with its imprisoned occupants, begun immediately, were impeded by strong currents prevailing at that spot. Search for the sunken craft by naval planes was handicapped by miserable flying conditions, which made their job dangerous.

The submarine, in service only two years, was endeavouring to correct mechanical faults when it set out particularly for diving trials.

The ministry of marine at Paris said the "Promethee" had not been in perfect working order. Various adjustments had been found necessary before it could be deemed fit for a long voyage. It was in an effort to bring the machinery to perfection that the disastrous trials had been arranged.

It was estimated 49 members of the crew and 17 other men, including engineers and workmen, went down with the ship. The correspondent of the Paris newspaper "Le Matin" estimated the victims at 70.

Sensational Trial Ended

Mrs. Elvira Barney Acquitted Of Charge Of Murder

London, England.—A jury, of 10 men and two women found that Mrs. Elvira Barney, 26-year-old daughter of a wealthy baronet, was not guilty of the murder of Thomas William Scott Stephen, her lover, who was shot to death in her flat after a party, May 31.

The verdict was reached after one hour and 53 minutes of deliberation. Mrs. Barney collapsed when she heard it. A short time later, wholly freed, she left the Old Bailey and went to the home of her father and mother, Sir John and Lady Mullens. The jury also acquitted Mrs. Barney on two other charges—one of manslaughter and another of intent to do Stephen, the son of a banker, grievous bodily harm by trying to shoot him during a quarrel a few weeks before his death.

Giant Stand Of Wheat

Ontario Farmer Has Grain Over Five Feet High

London, Ont.—Farmer Frank Spettigue, of Westminster township, proudly surveys his promise wheat fields after reading that the grain stands of the west, which brought to produce a better-than-average yield, are about three feet tall. And the reason for Farmer Spettigue's pride hangs on the fact that his wheat right now averages five feet, four inches in height. The giant stand is believed to set a record for the district at this date.

Insect Pests Cause Damage

Seed Maggot Destroying Crops In Parts Of Saskatchewan

While the webworm armies are cleaning up on gardens and weed patches in all parts of Saskatchewan, reports of another pest which has not been so prevalent in other years and has destroyed seed grain in many hundreds of acres, are being received. A report that the United States corn borer had been found responsible for losses at Semans was found incorrect. The responsible pest, which has done damage in other sections and within six miles of Saskatoon, is the seed maggot, which destroys the grain before it has a chance to germinate, particularly affecting late sown oats and barley.

Kenneth M. King, in charge of the Dominion Entomological laboratory in Saskatoon, identified the Semans pest which there had cleaned up 95 per cent. of the crop in a large field as the seed maggot, known as the seed corn maggot in the United States. There farms have been infested and about 100 acres of crop nipped in the germinating state.

According to Mr. King infested fields are located at Wilkie, Woodrow, Pilot Butte, Colonsay, Balgonie and Cadillac, and a field six miles east of Saskatoon.

The flies, which are the other life stage of this maggot, belong to a native species that is always fairly abundant, but this is the first time in Saskatchewan that the maggot has been observed causing any serious damage to field crops. Mr. King suggests that rather unusual climatic conditions such as heavy moisture after a long, dry period might have particularly favored the development of the maggots. In the field examined at Semans, where the heavy damage was done, he found as many as seven maggots to a single kernel of barley.

The webworm, a branch of the army worm family, resulted from the moth that was extremely prevalent this spring. At Semans one farmer's wife went out for beet greens and found them so completely eaten that one would not have guessed they ever grew in her garden.

Japanese Love Flowers

Chrysanthemum Is Queen Of Cherry Blossom King Of All

The Japanese, who are traditionally a flower-loving people, claim that their islands produce 3,200 species of flowers. The white plum blossom tells of the coming of spring, then follow the cherry, the azalea, the iris, peony, lily, chrysanthemum and the camellia. The cherry is the monarch of all and it is celebrated by fetes and processions. The chrysanthemum is queen, and is on the crest of the Emperor. It has been cultivated for 2,500 years. The Japanese often enrich the roots of wisteria with rice wine. Their peonies are sometimes nine inches across, and the 80 varieties, when cared for after cutting, will last three weeks.

Queen Alexandra

Unveiling Of A Beautiful Memorial To The Well-Remembered Queen

There was something peculiarly artistic and touching about the unveiling recently, on the grounds of Marlborough House, London, of a beautiful memorial to the well-remembered Queen Alexandra. The sculptor, aged and infirm, who had thrown his whole soul into the work, was relieved by the King and Queen, by whom he was congratulated on the excellence of his production. Albert Gilbert, who designed and executed the memorial, which consists of figures depicting Faith, Hope and Charity, began the work four years ago. Evidently a temperamental artist, he is reported to have destroyed several of his early designs rather than expose them to public criticism. This was to be the triumph of his career, and he struggled on against illness and disappointment with results achieved. At last he was satisfied, and London is enriched by another splendid example of the sculptor's art.

The occasion recalls the gracious and charming Queen whose memory the sculptured group perpetuates. Alexandra was beloved by the British people. As Princess of Wales, and following the death of the Prince Consort, she relieved Queen Victoria of most of the social duties involving the sorrowing ruler, and in this way became a familiar and extremely popular figure in the life of the nation. As wife of King Edward VII., she endeared herself to the British people, and the years of her widowhood saw her honored by a sympathetic and admiring people.

When Alexandra, a Danish Princess "Sea King's daughter from over the sea," journeyed to England to become the bride of the Prince of Wales she was greeted with a great outburst of public enthusiasm, well voiced in Tennyson's lines: "Saxon and Norman and Dane are we, but all of us Danes in our welcome to thee, Alexandra." The unveiling of the memorial fell on the 21st anniversary of the establishment of Alexandra Rose Day, on which so much good work is done for philanthropic undertakings, which give additional meaning to the poet's further words of greeting: "Welcome her, all things youthful and sweet; scatter the blossoms under her feet. Break, happy land, into earlier flowers; make music, O bird, in the new-budded bowers!"—Toronto Globe.

More Employed At Seventy Than Nineteen

Small Per Cent. Of Septuagenarians In Canada Not Working

More men of 70 are at work in Canada than youths of 19. The septuagenarian of today is occupying the job that a generation ago his grandson would have secured. The young Canadian does not really become a man until he is 28 years of age. At least half have to wait until that time before they are men's jobs.

These are figures gleaned from the last census and just announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Censuses show that of those who have reached the 70 mark only 41 per cent. were unemployed or on pension. Of those who had reached the age of 19 there were 44 per cent. who had not found jobs.

The maximum proportion at any age in men's jobs is during the 40's, when it steadily recedes until the 60's, whence only half remain, just as only half had arrived at 28. Records of the bureau show that the years spent in school by Canadian youth are lengthening.

Not the Same Grub

An Englishman had invited an American friend to visit his shooting box in the Highlands. On the first day they did not have much sport, as the birds were shy, but that did not worry the host, who admired the glorious scenery.

As they stood at the top of a fine mountain, from which they obtained a magnificent view of frowning crags and placid lochs, the sporting host said ecstatically: "Isn't this magnificent? Why, just to stand here makes a man feel like a little grub."

"It does," agreed his guest. "I tell you I've had nothing but a ham sandwich since ten o'clock."

THEIR LIFE A BOWL OF ROSES

How Advertising Pays

New York Merchants Proved Success Depended On It

Back in 1923 there was a general strike in the newspaper trades in New York, embracing every important metropolitan daily printed in English as well as the German and Italian papers. For nearly two weeks only a daily bulletin was issued. This carried no advertising, as there was no room for any. During this period, when advertising was suspended, the merchants of New York sustained losses running into millions and millions. For the first time it was definitely proved that their success was largely dependent upon advertising—that is, if they wanted to do business on a large scale.

During the present depression the companies which have maintained consistent and well directed advertising campaigns have been much more successful than those who started their retrenchment program by cutting down on the advertising. Of course even the best advertising and the biggest appropriations cannot sustain the sales of an inferior product, but if the merchandise represents good value, advertising is a vital factor in keeping it moving.

A Fast Growing Town

Meadow Lake, Saskatchewan, Wants More Room For New Comers

Which is the fastest growing town in Saskatchewan?

The answer, according to S. Young, provincial director of town planning, is Meadow Lake.

Meadow Lake, a town boasting some 500 inhabitants, north of North Battleford, was organized as a village on August 24, 1931. The railway only reached Meadow Lake in 1930. The townsite at present includes two quarter sections of land.

Now the townfolk are talking about opening up a new sub-division in order to make more room for newcomers.

Home Address London

United States Paper Has Admirer For John Bull

He is a pompous, choleric old chap at times, and one can find a lot of things to point an accusing finger at his back, but he has his points. He does not whine, and he never "welches," and without preaching it very much, he has practiced the philosophy of the copybook maxim that honesty is the best policy. The old boy pays. The going has been pretty rough lately, still, when he wanted to borrow dollars last summer, our bankers were glad to accommodate him. They knew their man. Things are a bit easier with him now, and what does he do? Characteristically, he pays. He has paid $150,000,000 of that loan. His name is John Bull, home address, London, England, familiar figure in all the capitals and most of the crossroads of the world, involved in pretty much all the crises of history and somehow or other, contriving to muddle through.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Letters To The Editor

Are Usually Printed Unless Of A Libelous Nature

There are some people who think that an editor publishes only those letters which agree with editorial opinion of his paper. That is not true.

There is only one thing that suppresses letters in newspapers, and that is the Libel Law. Unpleasant or libelous, or statements clearly contrary to the actual facts, all letters are published.

The Radio Issue

The fundamental importance of the radio issue which has been fought out and won for the public at Ottawa has not been adequately understood. It is not a question of whether the greatest single agency for influencing public opinion should be owned and operated by or for commercial interests or by agencies responsible to and controlled by the public. ## An Old Trick

Old Novelty Of Walking On The Ceiling Has Been Revived

The first man ever to walk on a ceiling was young Dan Costello, of Racine, son of the famous circus man. This youngster invented ceiling walking and for one season was the premier attraction of the Cooper & Bailey show. After that every circus had a ceiling walker and the novelty soon wore off, for everyone knew what a simple thing it was and how easily it was done.

This act recently was revived by a movie actor in Hollywood, Cal., and it is thought to be something new, which causes many an old man to smile, especially those who remember how the act was secretly developed in a Racine barn. Popcorn George, the Mayberrys, Burr Robbins and the Ringlows were the act out in a single season. And they were all Wisconsin circus men.—Milwaukee Journal.

Where the Dollar Goes

Sixty Per Cent. Of Income Spent On Food and Clothing

Every dollar the average man spends goes in part to the seller of foodstuffs, clothing and so forth, while another part goes to intangibles or services. The Investors' Syndicate states that 60 per cent. of incomes is used on the former. Ten years ago people spent a larger proportion of each dollar for goods, the total being in the neighborhood of 66 cents. More and more, however, they have come to use such valuable, if intangible, services as health, educational and recreational facilities. After all, investors' syndicate points out, it is possible for an individual to eat just so much food, and to wear out a certain limited amount of shoe leather. The growth of demand for such articles must be limited to the growth of the population. The human wants for amusement and other intangible but nevertheless real values are relatively unlimited.

Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson received in commemoration of his efforts to save Edith Cavell, the English nurse, from execution during the World War, a book presented on behalf of the women of England. Bound in blue morocco, it contains the signatures of several thousand women, including such prominent ones as Ellen Terry, the actress. It was explained that the women had planned to give the volume to him several years ago, but it had been delayed by various causes.

Trans-Canada Highway

Propose To Link Kenora With Port Arthur As The Next Step

Discussing the government road policy, the minister said the next step in highway construction in western Ontario would be to link Kenora and Port Arthur. Completion of a highway from Winnipeg to Kenora was marked with appropriate ceremonies.

A road from Kenora to Port Arthur, Mr. Finlayson said, would provide a highway loop joining the lakehead with Winnipeg via Kenora and via the United States. A highway at present leads from here to Duluth, Minn.

That Was Different

"Mr. Nobbs," commenced the rather timid-looking young man—"er—ah—that is, can—er—I will you—"

"Why, yes, my boy, you may have her," smiled the girl's father.

The young man gaped.

"What's this? Have whom?" he asked.

"My daughter, of course," replied Nobbs. "That's what you mean. You want to marry her, don't you?"

"Why, no, sir," said the young man. "I just wanted to know if you could lend me ten pounds."

"Certainly not, sir," said Nobbs sharply. "Why, I hardly know you."

Sailings For Hudson Bay

Insurance Rates Now Placed On An Equitable Basis

Churchill, prairie Canada's ocean gateway to the markets of Europe, will be a world-recognized port "in a very few years," in the opinion of W. H. Harling, Montreal shipping agent.

Already, he said in an interview, insurance rates for the Hudson Bay navigation season are on an equitable basis and will grow progressively lower as the volume of business increases.

Insurance underwriters are quoting lower rates this year than last, when two trial grain shipments were successfully made from Churchill.

More than 1,000,000 bushels of Saskatchewan grain are stored in the year-old government elevator on Hudson Bay and within a few days this figure will be swelled to the elevator's 2,000,000 bushel capacity. Mr. Harling is confident at least 4,000,000 bushels will be shipped via the northern route this summer.

Definite sailing of the first ship to Europe, Churchill, with commercial cargo was announced by the Montreal agent. The "Pennyworth" is to leave Newcastle-on-Tyne, July 15, making stops at Antwerp and Liverpool before crossing the Atlantic and delivering Hudson Straits. It will enter a mixed cargo at Churchill early in August.

But the "Pennyworth" would be only one of a fleet of ships to visit Churchill during August and September if arrangements are completed for shipping 4,000,000 bushels of western grain to Europe via the northern route. At least 16 ships would be used to carry this amount.

"Churchill is going through now just what Vancouver experienced some years ago," Mr. Harling said. "Vancouver had precisely the same difficulties in getting shippers to use its facilities. Today Vancouver is an accepted fact in the trade."

Grain from the greater part of Saskatchewan and northern Alberta can now be shipped to Liverpool at lower cost via Churchill than by the rail, lake and then ocean route from Montreal, Mr. Harling said.

Tagging The Birds

Bird-Banding Contributes Much Valuable Scientific Information

Bird-banding has afforded much new and valuable scientific information concerning Canada's native wild birds and any person who finds a banded bird is requested to help in the advancement of this work by reporting the details to the commission, national parks of Canada, Department of the Interior, Ottawa. An interesting fact brought out by a recently reported banding operation is recounted here.

Official band 192287 was placed on a purple finch by Mrs. Frank Hubbard at New Haven, Connecticut, on March 23, 1926. The finch was next found, with a broken wing, by Miss Blanche Spurr at Deep Brook, Nova Scotia, on July 4, 1931. Miss Spurr took the bird home and placed it in a large screened-in porch, where, with care, the finch recovered its power of flight sufficiently to be released on August 16, 1931. As the finch was still wearing the band when it was liberated, it is possible that it may be again reported.

FANCIFUL FABLES

Increased Resort To London Of Canadian Borrowers Shows New Financial Trend

Successful flotation of two provincial bond issues in the London market is accepted by New York bankers as a forerunner of increased resort by Canadian borrowers to the London new issues market "during the current period of financial strain and unsettled exchanges," says the New York Herald-Tribune.

The paper refers to the placing of British Columbia's £1,500,000 of 5s issue in London in May, which was quickly oversubscribed at 99, and of £1,000,000 Alberta 5s recently at 98½.

"The new trend," says the paper, "is somewhat of a tribute to the London new issues market, which recovered its poise last December."

"It remains the opinion of almost all competent authorities that the Canadian dollar will be eventually re-established on a parity with that of the United States, notwithstanding the present discount of nearly 13 per cent. on Montreal funds in New York. The close inter-relationships of United States and Canadian business interests, and the large aggregate of Canadian gold bonds, held in this country, are considered ample assurance of eventual exchange parity. Nor is it thought that such parity will be difficult to achieve or maintain in a normal world."

"It is accepted here that the Canadian borrowing in London had the tacit approval of the highest banking authorities in England."

This assumption is justified, since the effect on the exchanges accords with impressions prevalent here in regard to London financial policy. All exchange transactions between Montreal and London are mediated by New York. Canadian borrowing in London means, therefore, that additional pressure will be exerted to depress the British currency unit in terms of the United States dollar, while a favorable effect will be exerted on the Canadian unit in terms of the dollar.

"That London is averse to any substantial rise in sterling has been shown by the establishment of the stabilization fund. The effect of Canadian borrowing in London coincides with the operation of this fund, and it is therefore assumed that encouragement will be given the flotation of Canadian bond issues in London."

Sounds Reasonable

Establishing 'City Man On Farm' Might Not Pay

A prominent citizen of Pennsylvania, realizing that unemployed city workers have no means to establish homesteads in the country, proposes that the State should finance them in the purchase of farms, stocking them with horses, cows, chickens and pigs, and supplying them with tools and seed. That kind of aid might be welcome to a genuine "back-to-the-land" who had been brought up in the country, but how can it benefit the man who has never known of life outside a city? He couldn't tell a couldn't tell a horse's crupper from its headtail, he is helpless when he seats himself on a milking-stool at a cow's flank, he has the vaguest idea or none at all as to the proper feeding and care of swine. Even the comparatively simple procedure of keeping a flock of poultry in good fettle is Greek to him. You might as well bring a discouraged farmer to the city and expect him to make a success of running a beauty-parlor or a high-class specialty shop.

To Protect Industry

Ask For Stiffening Of "Empire-Content" Regulations In Britain
British Conservatives want a stiffening of the "Empire-Content" regulations which stipulate the percentage of Empire labor or materials that must be contained in goods entering under the Imperial preferences.

The central council of the National Union of Conservative Associations, meeting in London, with 500 delegates present, unanimously passed a resolution demanding the government take steps to amend the regulations, which at present call for an Empire content of 25 per cent.

The resolution complained that at present United States manufacturers are able to use Canada and the Irish Free State as corridors for the export into Britain of goods mainly of United States origin, thus evading the general duties and defeating the object for which they were imposed.

GEORGE E. CARTER WINS PROMOTION

Succeeds George A. Walton
as General Passenger Agent C.P.R.

George E. Carter, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, is appointed General Passenger Agent, Eastern Lines, with headquarters at Montreal, effective July 1st, according to an announcement by R. O. McNeill, Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager. He succeeds the late George A. Walton, who died on May 18. The position of Assistant General Passenger Agent now held by Mr. Carter will not be filled. This decision was reached in view of the need of economy during current business conditions and reduces the number of Assistant General Passenger Agents to two.

Mr. Carter's promotion to one of the highest positions in the gift of the Passenger Department, follows a career marked by steady advancement. Mr. Carter entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway as a stenographer in the Passenger Department at Saint John, N.B., on September 29, 1914. Shortly thereafter he enlisted for Overseas Service, and was wounded on the Western front with the first Canadian Machine Gun Battalion. He subsequently became a member of the world famous Princess Patricia's character of his commission in the Imperial Army, from which he afterwards transferred to the Canadian Corps.

Returning from Overseas at the close of the war, he re-entered the Passenger Department of the Canadian Pacific at Saint John, N.B., and steadily worked his way upward through the ranks. He was transferred to posts of increasing responsibility at Quebec, and in turn was made Chief Clerk in the New York and Montreal offices of the Passenger Department. Mr. Carter also made a special instructional trip to Europe in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific Steamships.

He was made District Passenger Agent at Saint John on December 10, 1928, and Assistant General Passenger Agent in Montreal on May 1st, 1930. He is a member of the Traffic Club of Montreal, and of the Kiwanis Club.

Weed Menace

Effective Method Of Securing a Clear Seed-Crop

This is the time of the year when the rogues of the seed crop should be carefully watched—among the most troublesome of which are the weeds Bladder Campion, Catch Fly, Couch Grass, Rib Grass, Ragweed, Ox-eye Daisy and Perennial Sow Thistle—and only by effective policing methods can the best quality of seed crop be secured. As the Dominion Seed Branch points out, growers should police their fields carefully and be prepared to resort to liberal roguing where necessary in order to ensure that their seed crop will be free from impurities which too often render otherwise good seed of no market value whatever. Roguing, or pulling weeds by hand, before they have gone to seed, is the most effective method of making sure of securing a clean seed crop.

May Attempt To Locate Rich Gold and Silver Properties

Captain James C. Critchell-Bullock, of Vancouver, companion of the late John Hornby during his wanderings in the sub-Arctic barrens of the North West Territories, may lead an expedition into the north in an attempt to locate rich gold, silver and radium properties.

"Hornby was the original discoverer of the Great Bear Lake radium area," Critchell-Bullock declares. "During his wanderings in the barrens he made many other important discoveries, and before he died he turned over to me most of his samples, his diaries and his maps."

One of these samples, assayed recently in Vancouver, shows values of $136,000 to the ton in free gold, Captain Critchell-Bullock said.

Eminent French Professor Declares There Is No Such Thing As The Gulf Stream

Requires Team Work

If Every Person Was Careful Fewer Accidents Would Occur

Last year 571 people were killed by motor vehicles in Ontario; 341 people lost their lives by drowning and there were 204 deaths caused by falls.

That makes a total of 1,133 lives that were snuffed out by what might correctly be called preventable accidents, or what in plain speech would be called carelessness or recklessness.

What that total will be this year, of course, remains in the lap of the gods, but judging by the fatalities already reported, it will contain a greater rather than a lesser number, unless people are prepared to give greater thought and consideration to this matter.

Schools are closed for the holidays and thousands of children are free, too many of them, to roam at their own sweet will. Will anything serious happen to them?

Surely it will, unless the parents and older people force into their minds the absolute necessity of being careful on the streets, on the roads, at the swimming hole and at other places dear to the heart of childhood.

But all the fatalities will not fall among the children, and very few will really be caused by them. One can rest assured of that fact.

What about the man or the woman who drives at thirty or forty miles an hour on the streets of a town, or at something approaching double that speed on the roads and highways leading to and from these towns? Are they trying to prevent accidents? Or have they even a thought of danger in their minds?

Contrary to a very general belief it isn't always the other fellow who is inviting an accident. Accidents have a way of happening in all places, not just in one, and there is no one cause for them, but many.

If taking a little more time and being a little more careful would help to reduce this amazing total of preventable accidents, is it not the duty of every man and every woman to give this time and care?

Hundred Acres Of Roses

Two New Varieties Yearly Is Bohemia Gardener's Record

Blatina, in southwest Bohemia, was but little known to the outside world in pre-war days. Only the antiquarian interested in its late Gothic church, or the tourist informed of its delightful old castle set in the midst of a great and lovely park, would think it worth while to drop off there before passing on to the larger and historically more interesting towns of Pisek and Strakonice. But today it has become the end of an annual summer pilgrimage of nature lovers and others from all parts of central Europe. For there has been established by Jan Boehm a plant of over one hundred acres of roses.

To the horticulturist, Blatina is a constant source of reference, for Jan Boehm is a continuous experimenter, and his results are eagerly followed by experts in this part of Europe. He pales upon the market two new roses each year. Some of his recent introductions include the Masaryk Jubilee rose, the "Bohema Nemova," named after a famous Czech novelist of the nineteenth century and which is described as "a rose without a thorn," a "Brand-Panepore" and a "Kraana Uslavanka" rose of two colors. In addition to his own specimens, Boehm grows all kinds of roses, German, French, English and Dutch. The fact that Blatina lies about 1,300 feet above sea level and is exposed to the sharp winds of the Bohemian Forest would have suggested to a less daring man that this was an impossible spot in which to cultivate roses. What has actually happened is that Boehm has produced roses which are of a hardy sort, insured to cold and well able to stand rough climate.—Christian Science Monitor.

Keeps Business Moving

The head of one of the largest firms of cereal manufacturers announces that it is adding a cool-million dollars to its advertising appropriation for the current year. The bulk of this appropriation will be spent with newspapers. And some people operating much smaller concerns still persist in thinking that advertising does not pay.

Raw silk exported from Japan last year weighed nearly 20 per cent. more than the 1930 shipments.

Professor Georges Le Dannois of the French Sea Fisheries Bureau says "there is no such thing as the Gulf Stream." This, says the New York Sun, is his ultimatum. He hopes "that this categorical statement will put an end" to the conjectures inspired by reports concerning the inconstancy of the river in the North Atlantic.

The suppression of the Gulf Stream by the eminent French oceanographer is a hard blow to romance. Nothing like it has been reported since grim science abolished the Sargasso Sea of adventure tales and condemned to death all those interesting colonies of hopelessly pent voyagers that were held captive in its entangling web. The Sargasso Sea had a flora and a fauna of its own, each as rich as the discoverer's imagination; its human population was as diversified as the circumstances set by the story teller required.

The Sun reminds us that the Gulf Stream plays a different but not less interesting part in story. It is responsible for the cold, wet seasons that afflict the eastern coast of the United States and the northwestern coast of Europe. When strange fish appear, the Gulf Stream brings them; when familiar fish disappear, the Gulf Stream takes them away. Outside the Hydrographic Office—a strangely perverse institution so unenterprising that it refuses to be guided by amateur reports—the principal function of the Gulf Stream is to change its course. Not a season passes in which its diversions are not recorded everywhere except on the official charts.

It is a fortunate thing that Professor Le Dannois did not revoke the Gulf Stream while Benjamin Franklin was Ambassador to France. Poor Richard was a firm believer in the great current, and he would have stood up for it. Even now there are those who, despite the finality of Professor Le Dannois's pronouncement, will hope for its reinstatement. Perhaps it was merely in recess when Professor Le Dannois looked at the place where it should have been.

Tarif Pleasantries

U.S. Attitude Puts An End To Possibility Of Neighboring Trade

Colonel W. L. McGregor, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, got a few things off his chest and to the necks of the American Chamber of Commerce in connection assembled at San Francisco. Referring to tariff pleasantries between Canada and the United States, he says right out that the Americans started the game. The Smoot-Hawley Act is described as putting an end to fifty years of Canadian effort to trade with the United States. Furthermore, the newly threatened restrictions upon Canadian lumber and copper exports come in for rough handling. It is not much good trying to do business with a people who appear unwilling to buy from us, although they sell us one-quarter of their exports, quoth the colonel. In the classic phrase, he is not arguing with the Americans; he is just telling them.—Montreal Star.

CHAPTER XXV

Arranged By Telephone

The visit to London, if it had not been profitable in the results which Lady Anne had hoped for, had at least accomplished certain things.

It had acted as a brake upon the swiftly turning wheels of two lives precariously poised at the top of that steep hill of which no traveller can see the end, but which very surely leads to heartbreak and disaster, and had sufficed, as Jean had suggested that it might, to restore Nick to a more normal and temperate state of mind.

He and Claire had passed a long hour alone together the day after his return to Staple, and now that the first violent reaction, the first instinctive impulse of unbearable revolt from Sir Adrian's spying and brutality had spent itself, they had agreed to shoulder once more the burden Fate had laid upon them, to fight on again, just holding fast to the simple knowledge of their love for one another and leaving the ultimate issue to that great unfeeling Player who "hither and thither moves, and mates, and slays," not with the shadowed vision of our finite eyes but with the insight of eternity.

Jean had seen them coming hand in hand through the cool green glades of the wood where the great decision had been taken, and something in the two young, stern-set faces brought a sudden lump to her throat. She turned swiftly aside, avoiding a meeting, feeling as though here was holy ground upon which not even so close a friend as she could tread without violation.

To Jean herself the week in London had brought a certain new tranquillity of spirit. Quite naturally and without effort—thanks to Lady Anne's skilful stage-management—she and Blaise had been constantly in each other's company, and, with the word "Beloved" murmuring in her heart like some tender undertone of melody, the hours they had shared together were no longer a mingled ecstasy and pain, marred by torturing doubts and fears, but held once more the old magic of that wonder-day at Montavan. Somehow the dividing line did not seem to matter very much, now that she was sure that Blaise, on his side of it, was loving her just as she, on hers, loved him. Indeed, at this stage Jean made no very great demands on life. After the agony of uncertainty of the last few months, the calm surety that Blaise loved her seemed happiness enough.

Other sharp edges of existence, too, had smoothed themselves down—as sharp edges have a knack of doing if you wait long enough. Burke seemed to have accepted her last answer as final, and now spared her the effort of contending further with his tempestuous love-making, so that she felt able to continue her friendship with Judith, and her consequent visits to Willow Ferry, with as little "genre" as though the episode at the "Honey-mooners' Inn" had never taken place. She even began to believe that Burke was genuinely slightly remorseful for his behaviour on that particular occasion.

Apparently he had not made a confidant of his sister over the matter, for it was without the least indication of a back thought of any kind that she approached Jean on the subject of spending a few days with herself and Geoffrey at their bungalow on the Moor.

"Geoff and I are going for a week's blow on Dartmoor, just by way of a 'pick-me-up.' Come with us, Jean; it will do you good after stuffy old London—blow the cobwebs away!"

But here, at least, Jean felt that discretion was the better part of valour. It was true that Burke appeared fairly amenable to reason just at present, but in the informal companionship of daily life in a moorland bungalow it was more than probable that he would become less manageable. And she had no desire for a repetition of that scene in the inn parlour.

Therefore, although the Moor, with its great stretches of gold and purple, its fragrant, heathery breath and its enfolding silences, appealed to her in a way in which nothing else on earth seemed quite to appeal, pulling at her heartstrings almost as the nostalgia for home and country pulls at the heartstrings of a wanderer, she returned a regretful negative to Judith's invitation. So Burke and Mrs. Craig packed up and departed to Three Birches Bungalow without her, and life at Staple resumed the even tenor of its way.

The weather was glorious, the long, hot summer days melting into balmy nights when the hills and dales amid which the old house was set were bathed in moonlight mystery—transmuted into a wonderland of phantasy, cavernous with shadow where undreamed-of dragons lurked, lambent with opalescent fields of splendour whence upon the glimmer of half-visioned palaces or the battlemented walls of some ethereal fairy castle.

More than once Jean's thoughts turned wistfully towards the Moor which she had so longed to see by moonlight—Judith's "holy of holies that God must have made for His spirits"—and she felt disposed to blame herself for the robust attack of caution which had impelled her to refuse the invitation to the bungalow. "One loses half the best things in life by being afraid," she told herself petulantly. "And a second chance to take them doesn't come!"

She felt almost tempted to write to Judith and propose that she should join her at the bungalow for a few days after all if she still had room for her. And then, as is often the way of things just when we are contemplating taking the management of affairs into our own hands, the second chance offered itself without any directing on Jean's part.

The telephone bell rang, and Jean, who was expecting an answer to an important message she had phoned through on Lady Anne's behalf, hastened to answer it. Very much to her surprise she found that it was Burke who was speaking at the other end of the line.

"Is that you, Geoffrey?" she exclaimed in astonishment. "I didn't know your bungalow was on the telephone. I thought you were miles away from anywhere!"

"It isn't. And we are," came back Burke's voice. From a certain quality in it she knew that he was smiling. "I'm in Okehampton, phoning from a pal's house. I've a message for you from Judy."

"Ye-es?" intoned Jean enquiringly. "She wants you to come up to-morrow, just for one night! I'll be a full moon and she says you have a hankering to see the Moor by moonlight. Have you?"

"Yes, oh yes!"—with enthusiasm. "Thought so. It certainly does look topping. Quite worth seeing. Well, she's a briske, Judy's got a party of friends; down from town, who are coming over to us from the South Devon slide—going to drive up and stay the night, and the idea is to do a moonlight scramble up on to the top of one of the tors after supper. Are you game?"

"Oh! How heavenly!" This, ecstatically, from Jean.

"How what?"

"Heavenly. Heavenly!"—with increasing emphasis. "Can't you hear?"

"Oh, heavenly—yes, I hear. Yes, it would be rather—if you came."

Even through the 'phone Burke's voice conveyed something of that unsettling fiery ardour of his.

"I won't come—unless you promise to behave," said Jean warningly.

Bubbling over with pleasure at the prospect unfolded by the invitation, she found it a little difficult to infuse a hesitating sternness into her tones.

"Do I need to take fresh vows?" came back Burke's answer, spoken rather gravely. "I made you a promise that day—when we drove back from Dartmoor. I'll keep that."

"I'll never kiss you again till you give me your lips yourself."

The words of the promise rushed vividly into Jean's mind, and now that steady voice through the 'phone uttering its quiet endorsement of the assurance given, made her feel suddenly ashamed of her suspicions.

"Very well, I'll come then," she said hastily. "How shall I get to you?"

"It's all planned, because we thought—at least we hoped—you'd come. If you come down to Okehampton by the three o'clock train from Coombe Earle, I'll meet you there with the car and drive you up to the bungalow. Judy is going to drive into Newton Abbot early, to do some marketing, and afterwards she'll lunch with her London people—the Holbourns. Then they'll all come up together in the afternoon."

Province of a Newspaper

Is To Report Actual Happenings Without Any Prejudice

It would be comical, were it not somewhat pathetic, the way newspaper offices are besieged by their friends, urging them to "roast" this and that; to "see to it" that this and that is corrected; to have this or that done in the city or county. These friends actually appear to believe that it is the newspaper's business to handle all these affairs.

But a self-respecting newspaper, though ready and willing to carry all reasonable responsibility, must remind its readers that they too have a responsibility. A self-respecting newspaper tries to report the news of what actually happens, not what it might wish had happened. The relation of a self-respecting newspaper to the general public is not always understood. It is the duty of a newspaper to be in a position to support any good act and criticize any bad act of public policy.

This relationship cannot exist where favors are asked and granted. Honesty is the only policy for a newspaper.

If objectors don't like the way things are going, they should qualify as voters and then raise Cain about it.—Kitchen Record.

Overcoming Danger Of Lightning To Airplanes

Process Known As "Bonding" Has Been Proved Effective

British aeronautical engineers have succeeded in overcoming danger to aircraft and passengers from lightning to such an extent that a "plane" may be struck while in flight and remain sufficiently undamaged to continue its journey.

A process known as "bonding" in which all metal parts of the machine are connected into a continuous conductor prevent heavy charges of static electricity, such as are picked up in storm clouds, from blowing the "plane" apart.

"Horatius," an Imperial Airways airliner, was recently struck by lightning while flying over Kent on her way to Paris. Although some of the windows were blown out, no occupant was hurt and the pilot was able to turn back to London and transfer his passengers to another "plane" which took them at once to their destination.

Hint For The Cook

Expert Says "Pinch" Should Be Weighed For Best Results

Many a tasty dish would be just a little tastier, and many a sad stew would be just a little less if cooks would make some effort to standardize their "pinch," said Max Werder, assistant viceroy of the Canadian National Steamships in a recent issue of hints to housewives. Mr. Werder advises all cooks to measure their fingers and weigh their "pinch" capacity so that a "pinch of salt" or a "small pinch of cayenne pepper" will become terms with some real meaning. He says the former amount should be a quarter of an ounce and the latter a sixteenth of an ounce.

Silk Hat Trade Declining

Demand Falling Off and No Apprentices Being Trained

Denton, the Little Lanchashire town, famed for manufacture of silk hats, fears that the trade is doomed.

No apprentices are being encouraged to enter this particular branch of the hat manufacturing business, and all workmen at present employed are skilled craftsmen, who are getting on in years.

The world demand for silk hats is said to have fallen to about six dozen a week, most of which are manufactured in Denton.

The Line Is Busy

But Chinese Have Most Polite Way Of Saying So

In China, when a subscriber rings up the telephone exchange the operator asks: "What number does the honorable son of the moon and stars desire?" After a short silence the exchange resumes, "Will the honorable person graciously forgive the inadequacy of the insignificant slave and permit this humble slave of the wire to inform him that the never-to-be-sufficiently censured line is engaged?"

Stockyards For The Pas

Cattle shipped over the Hudson Bay Railway for export through the port of Churchill will be fed and watered at The Pas, it has been definitely learned. Construction of stockyards will begin here at once.

At least one cattle shipment will be sent to Great Britain over the northern route this year.

Terribly Inconsiderate

According to an official, says London Punch, the offices of income-tax collectors are so scantily furnished that it isn't possible to ask taxpayers to take a seat. Nor is there any accommodation for those who faint.

It happened in front of the Palace. Two lay-offs were chewing the rag. "What're you doin' tonight?" asked one. "How about takin' in a movie? I'll take our minds off the depression."

"Sorry, old man," was the answer. "But I can't make it. I've got a bridge date."

"That's okay, too," was the amazing retort: "I'll jump off with you."

Punctuality Is Amazing

Birds and Fish Seem To Have Extraordinary Time Sense

Some birds certainly have a sense of time. Observations made at Barton Abbey, England, in the month of June prove that the lark is definitely the first to sing in the morning. This at two minutes after three. Next comes the thrush, third the sedge warbler, fourth the blackbird. Then in order the reed bunting, robin, cuckoo, willow-wren, rook and garden warbler. The whole list is too long to give, but the same order was kept faithfully, morning after morning, ending with the tree creeper which did not sound its note until four thirty-seven.

Great shoals of a delicious little fish arrive yearly off the coasts of Samoa on the same day in the same month, with such regularity that, from time to time out of mind, the day has been set apart by the natives as a holiday and a feast day. The shoals take twenty-four hours in passing, then they are not seen again until the same day the following year. There is no explanation of the amazing punctuality of their yearly visit.

HEART OF GOLD

Life is a flower with a golden heart; Though petals after petals drop away As one by one the swift-winged years depart.

Still something of its charm and fragrance stay.

As ever wider open falls the rose, Still heavier, more potent grows its scent.

And rare, new loveliness the hours disclose.

Surpassing speech, yet strangely eloquent.

A flower is life; yet, as youth's petals fall, And flying years reach out with eager clutch,

Time is defrauded; he cannot take all But only graces valued overmuch;

For not until the final leaves unfold Does it reveal its matchless heart of gold.

No child should be allowed to suffer for an hour from what prompts relief can be got in a simple but strong remedy—Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.
